Start by having a faculty/staff brainstorm a (ul)-222b4 Tf 12 -0 --d,(2 (ng f 12 -0)]TJ)-2(a)-6 (or)3 (m)-2 similar.

Describe the course goals. Specifically focus on strengths, skills, and values that you feel are the result of, or at least supported and nurtured by, the course experience. Then ask:

What does this student know?

What can this student do?

What does this student care about?

List the achievements you implicitly expect students to be able to achieve.

- o Collect and review instructional materials. Try sorting materials into 3 broad categories: recognition/recall, comprehension/simple application, critical thinking/problemsolving. Use any of the following:
 - syllabi and course outlines
 - course assignments and tests
 - textbooks (especially the tables of contents, introductions, and summaries)
- o Review and react to student learning objectives from college/universities. Try grouping the statements into broad categories of student outcomes (i.e., knowledge, attitudinal, behavioral).

Student Learning Outcome Development Guide for the Core Outcomes Project

Learning outcomes are statements of what is expected that a student will be able to DO as a result of a learning activity. By way of example
