The Majority

Question:

We would like for the [REDACTED] to violate Chapter 6. Activities of Think[REDACTED] statute as it is written.

The Majority Ruling for Question #2

Question:

If the Court finds in our favor on issue 1, we would like the funding for ShiftSpace Call to be reduced to something more reasonable and not so punitive.

and with the initial ruling in Case 1, while Case 2's Art Colony did indeed have a Code, the outcome was too harsh and violated Section 4 of the Constitution which states:

The ~~legislative~~ delegation in other words might be seen as its donee effectively, since it has the authority to delegate its legislative, executive, administrative authority to represent the state. The ~~legislative~~ delegation of authority may be reasonable and penalties for

For example, in England or appropriate subsection which states

...Any entity which is not in compliance with the Regulation, Rules, Statutes and/or By-Laws of the Association shall not be eligible to receive Association funds.

The Court ruled that it was unconstitutional to strip funding from Title IX because it was not reasonable for the decision to strip funding from Title IX.

unconstitutional and is hereby

It is so ordered, on behalf of the Majority.

Garett Butler, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court
